CENOTAPH DEFACED

By Paul Giles

southend@yellowad.co.uk

COUNCIL leaders have condemned the actions of vandals who defaced a major memorial to brave Southend residents who lost their lives in the two world wars.

Leader of the council Ron Woodley said the Southend Cenotaph is a significant monument which is part of the history of the town.

Cllr Woodley said: "It stands in continual tribute to the men and women in our borough who made the supreme sacrifice and shows they will never ever be forgotten.

"The people who have so recklessly damaged it have shown massive disrespect – not just to the families of those honoured by this memorial – but to everyone with relatives who laid down their lives in the service of their country.

"We are horrified that this ugly graffiti has scarred our Cenotaph, just weeks away from Remembrance Sunday.

"It is even more tragic that the vandals have struck just as the Cenotaph was undergoing conservation works to coincide with the centenary of the start of the First World War.

"This was specially planned to ensure it would be preserved in the best possible condition for many generations to come.

"We have contacted police about this act of destruction and will do our utmost to make sure those responsible for such a despicable act will be brought to justice.

"The tag is clearly visible, so I would urge anyone that recognises it or knows who did this to report it to police.

"In the meantime, this graffiti will be swiftly removed and the Cenotaph renovation programme will continue ready for Remembrance Sunday."

Anyone with information about the vandalism should contact Essex Police on 101.

Fake police officer cons woman out of £5,000

A WOMAN has had more than £5,000 stolen from her by a bogus police officer.

Essex Police has now released an efit (see far right) of a man who went to her home posing as a courier for the police to pick up money.

The incident is one of the latest in a series of crimes in which mainly elderly or vulnerable people are targeted and tricked into revealing their bank details or handing over large sums of cash.

A man posing as a Met Police officer phoned the woman, who was in her 60s, on Monday, September 8, and said that thieves had infiltrated her bank account.

He said as part of the investigation the woman should give police her bank cards, PINs and also cash for forensic examination.

The suspect pictured in the efit was then sent to pick up the cards from the woman's home.

He also took £1,800 in cash, claiming it was needed for forensic investigation.

The woman was then contacted the next day by the man claiming to be the officer the day before asking for another £1,800.

The same courier was sent around to pick up all of the money.

Investigating officer DC Jon Holden said the crime was appalling.

Super childminder Sam scoops national award

Love a bug – Thurrock

“Essex Action” – as heard on Southend Radio – with Volunteer Centres Essex

Today we are looking for volunteers in Thurrock to help a charity which is devoted to saving Britain’s rarest tiny animals, from bees to beetles, worms and woodlice.

The members love their bugs but so many creatures are under threat as never before.

So they need volunteers for work parties and events, or just to have fun at nature parks in the Thurrock and Grays areas.

If you love the outdoor life, care about conservation and have a passion for wildlife, this is a great way to do something positive with your time.

So why not do your bit to make a great habitat for our bug life.

To find out more contact Laura at the Volunteer Centre in Thurrock on 01375 389853.

What do you think? Write to Yellow Advertiser, Acorn House, Great Oaks, Basildon, Essex, SS14 1AH, or e-mail letters@yellowad.co.uk

A CHILDMINDER who goes above the call of duty has won a national award for her work.

Sam McKenna, has won the title of Childminder of the Year in the Nursery World magazine’s award scheme.

The 32-year-old was nominated by parents of the children who she minds when they contacted her Professional Association Childcare Early Years Network Development officer, Samantha Collinson.

Samantha also thought the mother-of-two deserved the award for dealing with an Ofsted inspection at the same time as moving home – and finishing her level five childcare degree.

Ms Collinson said Sam provides a setting that is inspirational and exceptional. She said: “It nurtures and develops children in her care and supports working families.

“Sam doesn’t normally like a lot of attention, but on this occasion, she really needs to know how many lives she has impacted and how special she is.”

Speaking about her award Sam, from Southchurch, said she was shocked to have been nominated.

She said: “I really love this job. I started out as a nanny, so it was a natural progression to go on to qualify as a childminder.

“It was a real thrill to receive the award.

“It’s a team effort really because I receive a great deal of help from the council’s Early Years Team.”

In describing Sam’s award, Nursery World magazine said Sam was absolutely passionate about childminding.

It said: “She goes out of her way to help families support children in her care.

“When one parents’ car broke down hours before a planned holiday, Sam drove the family 100 miles so they could enjoy their vacation.

“She also regularly drops parents to appointments if they don’t drive, and always makes sure she accommodates families’ needs, even if it means working longer hours.

“Parents say that Sam, who has worked as a childminder for four years, is like a second mum to their children.”

Crews called to derelict office block

FIREFIGHTERS were called to a derelict office block in Victoria Avenue, Southend, on Tuesday, October 7.

They were called at about 6.30pm after people had reported seeing a fire on the fourth floor.

Crews put the blaze out by 7pm using two hose reel jets.

Crews were called to the smoke-logged flat at 7.30pm on Friday, October 10.

A pressure fan was used to clear the flat and the elderly woman was left in the care of the Ambulance Service at 7.50pm.

Flat fire

SEVEN fire crews were called to a fire in a flat on the ninth floor of a block of flats on Tuesday, October 7.

Crews reported the flat was heavily smoke-filled when they arrived but there was no fire.

Firefighters wearing breathing apparatus ventilated the flat and it is believed a candle caused the smoke.

Driving hazard

POLICE are urging drivers to be aware of flooding and surface water on many of the county roads following heavy rainfall.

Emergency services were dealing with a number of fallen trees and flooding on Monday.

The force has advised people to check travel websites and listen to local radio reports for any travel disruption.

Officers also warned people to slow down when driving through deep water.

THE radiotherapy department at Southend Hospital is exploring ways to improve patients' experiences with an art installation.

With a donation of £3,000 from Thames Mouth Lodge freemasons, the hospital has installed a sky ceiling in the reception area.

Sky ceilings are photographic illusions of real sky views that trigger a relaxed response for mind and body, transforming interiors into spacious and memorable environments for patients.

Radiotherapy service manager Nicola Greet said: "We always aim to make their experience at the hospital as calming as possible. When we became aware of sky ceilings and their calming benefits, we realised they could transform our radiotherapy reception area into a brighter and more welcoming space."

"The patients have been really positive about the sky lights and said it's nice to show that we are thinking of them."

The installation may not have happened without the help of members of Thames Mouth Lodge.

Member Peter Scott said every few years funds are raised to donate to a chosen cause.

He said: "We approached the charitable arm of Southend Hospital and offered our help."

"They suggested installing sky ceilings in the radiotherapy department, which appealed to our members, especially as some have had cancer."

"If the patients and hospital are happy, that's the most important thing – then it is money well spent."

Due to the positive response from patients, the radiotherapy department hopes to install more sky ceilings in other parts of the department, including motion skylights with moving palm trees and parrots.

WRITE ON: Jo Overfield is opening Elsie's Place for writers once a month

Cafe owner on a mission to help struggling writers

A CAFE in Leigh is offering a helping hand to struggling writers.

Elsie's Place, in Leigh Community Centre, Elm Road, will be opening up to writers on the last Tuesday of every month so that they can have a little time to focus on their work.

The idea came out of the frustration experienced by the owner of the cafe, Jo Overfield.

Jo said she knew it could be hard to find the time and space to write.

A MAN has been left with serious injuries to one of his hands after he was abducted on Southend seafront and then beaten up.

The 42-year-old was forced into a car, thought to be a dark coloured Rover, by three men on Marine Parade, opposite the Foresters Arms pub, between 3pm and 3.30pm, on Tuesday, October 7.

He was driven to an address in Hockley where he was seriously assaulted.

He needed hospital treatment for injuries to his hand.

Police said they do not believe the case is linked to the attempted abduction of a woman on October 2.

DC Layla Barker urged anyone with information to come forward about the assault.

She said: "It was a pleasant day and there would have been numerous passing cars and pedestrians about on Southend seafront at the time he was forced into the car."

Anyone with any information should call DC Barker at Southend CID on 101 ext 470161 or contact Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Efit appeal as man attempts to abduct woman

LIKENESS: The efit of a man who tried to abduct a woman in Southchurch

AN efit of a man who tried to abduct a woman has been released by detectives.

A 20-year-old woman was walking along Stornaway Road, Southchurch, at 6.20pm, on Thursday, October 2.

As she walked past a man standing by a black car he grabbed her wrist and attempted to push her into the vehicle.

The woman ran off after a man and woman passing by shouted at the would-be abductor.

Police would like to speak to the pair who shouted at the man as they may have information to help the investigation.

Investigating officer PC Keith Draycott said: "The incident left the victim understandably shaken up and I ask the public to take a good look at the efit."

Anyone who recognises the man is asked to call PC Christian Forbes at Southend CID.

● WORK has started to improve the new Tesco junction on the A127 at Southend. Plants and small trees were removed last Thursday and Friday so that work can start on October 27.

Councillor for public protection, waste and transport Martin Terry said it is imperative to improve the important road junction and boost access to Southend.

He said most trees were planted when the roundabout was initially installed in the 1990s and under the council's policy for tree removal, each one taken away will be replaced by another two.

He added: "We would advise drivers to allow extra time for their journeys in case of delays caused by temporary lane closures."

For more visit www.bettersouthend.com.

● A POP-UP ceramics exhibition is open in Leigh Broadway. It is the second pop-up exhibition run by students from Southend Adult Community College.

Students from the ceramic department have progressed to a professional standard creating exclusive pieces for sale. The exhibition runs until Thursday, from 10.30am to 5pm, at the Faux Gallery.

● A LIFEBOAT crew launched a rescue mission on Saturday at 3.45pm for a 30ft motor boat with two people on board which had broken down west of the pierhead. It was towed to Canvey Island Yacht Club.

Our life during wartime

AN arts organisation has been awarded a £47,000 grant from the Heritage Lottery Fund for a project about the First World War.

PinpointCreate will use the money to complete Southend WW1: Remember Us.

The series of events will focus on Southend as it viewed the events taking place around the war and how it shaped people's life in the town.

Drawing on theatre skills and storytelling, the project will show the changing role of women in the town during the conflict and feature exhibitions in Southend museums.

A professional theatre company will be formed and a performance will be written by Tony Michaels and directed by Mike Dodsworth both from Pinpoint.

The lecture theatre of the Beecroft Gallery will be transformed into a music hall stage which will be the setting for the theatre performances.

Mary Ann Connolly, creative director at PinpointCreate, said she was happy to be working with Southend museums.

She said: "This is a project which will bring to life the fascinating history of Southend through the real lives and experiences of the people who lived in the town.

"It is very exciting to be able to create a performance space in the Beecroft and we can't wait to work with local schools and help them tell their stories."

Councillor for enterprise, tourism and economic development Graham Longley said the museum service was happy to be working with the organisation.

Cllr Longley added: "This project will be a really significant addition to the ongoing programme of events taking place across Southend to commemorate the centenary of the start of the Great War."

HERITAGE: Members of PinpointCreate have funding for a major First World War project

Artist 'looking forward' to returning to his roots

MEET: Martin Huxter is at the Beecroft Gallery on Saturday

PEOPLE visiting the Beecroft Gallery will get the chance to meet the artist who has painted portraits of descendants of some of Vincent Van Gogh's models.

Martin Huxter, from Great Wakering, first exhibited the pieces when the Beecroft opened in the old Southend Library, in Victoria Avenue, Southend.

They caused such a stir at the launch that he will be returning on Saturday, between 10.30am and 4pm, to discuss the project with visitors.

The work includes The New Potato Eaters, which shows three generations of the family related to Gordina de Groot, the original model for Van Gogh's famous painting The Potato Eaters.

He said some of the models for his pictures attended the launch of the relocation of the Beecroft last month.

He said: "I am very much looking forward to returning to my roots again. This 'meet the artist' event gives me a chance to explain the paintings in more details and give a bit of the background to the project which actually began in 2001. It will be very informal."

Councillor for enterprise, tourism and economic development Graham Longley said: "We are very lucky that such an accomplished artist as Martin will be available to meet people visiting the gallery and we hope as many people as possible take advantage of this opportunity to speak with him."

Huxter was educated at King Edmund School, Rochford, and his fine art studies began at the former Southend Technical College in Carnarvon Road.

GRATEFUL: Joyce Long with some of the items in her charity sale

Gift helps Joyce raise cash after bike theft

AN ELDERLY man with £25 in a brown envelope has restored fundraiser Joyce Long's faith in human nature.

He had heard someone had stolen a bike from the 85-year-old's garden sale for Southend Hospital and gave her the £25 she had said it was worth, which helped her to reach her £3,100 total.

Joyce, who has already collected more than £1.5million for charity, held one of her twice-yearly sales in the garden of her Benfleet home last week.

"I was upset to think anyone could be so callous. After all they were not stealing from me but from the hospital," she said.

"But I was so touched by the gentleman who gave me £25. He said he had read about the theft in a local newspaper, and didn't want the charity to lose money because of it," added Joyce, who received an MBE for her charity work.

"I was very pleased the way the sale went. We had some very good moments.

"The lady who bought the mother-of-pearl accordion I had on sale played it – and three of us had a little dance around the garden."

The proceeds from the sale will go towards the latest keyhole cancer treatment service at Southend Hospital.

Extra cash to tackle flood risk

FLOOD-HIT Canvey is to get an extra £500,000 to help prevent the devastation wreaked on the island in July from happening again.

Then a freak storm left four inches of rainfall in an hour-and-a-half and flooded more than 200 homes, streets were awash and cars submerged as drains and gulleys could not cope. Water could not soak away. Essex County Council is paying the cash to clean gullies twice a year so rainwater can flow freely into drains.

Canvey councillor Ray Howard, also a member of the regional flood forum, welcomed the news.

"Although no drainage system could have coped with the July storm, this money will help us make sure our drainage system is the best it can be."

Cllr Dave Blackwell, who leads Canvey Island Independent Party, said: "It's good news we are getting more money, but there is a great deal more to do."

County council leader David Finch said: "This year alone our support for flood recovery and prevention on Canvey is more than £600,000. That is a sign of our commitment to alleviating the trauma and inconvenience that flooding causes."

The county council has provided more than £120,000 in rebates to people who had to leave their homes because of the flooding on July 20.

Bogus policeman

He said: "Despite taking bank cards and PINs which they used to take £1,400 and stealing £3,800 in cash they also tried to trick the victim into paying money into another account."

"Luckily she refused to do so and told a relative who contacted police."

"These fraudsters do sound genuine when they first contact their intended victims and they try a range of different stories to fool their victims."

"But police would never ask you for your bank details or ask you to transfer or withdraw funds."

Anyone with information should contact Essex Police on 101.

Hospitals and private firm in pathology services deal

A PARTNERSHIP to secure routine pathology services at two hospitals has been launched.

Basildon and Thurrock University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust and Southend University Hospital NHS Foundation Trust have formed a joint venture with private laboratory Integrated Pathology Partnerships (iPP).

The new service will keep pathology services local to both hospitals to ensure an efficient service for patients who require tests to find out the nature of their illnesses.

The collaboration will also deliver investment in new equipment and see urgent and routine work separated to ensure high-priority patients get results quicker.

A new central hub will be built to process and report routine work, including tests requested by GPs and from outpatient clinics.

There will also be two 24-hour rapid response laboratories on each hospital site to cover urgent tests in the accident and emergency departments.

In a joint statement, Basildon Hospital chief executive, Clare Panniker, and Southend Hospital chief executive Jacqueline Totterdell, said the venture would secure local pathology services for the future.

They said: "Combining our experience with iPP expertise in large scale clinical laboratory operations means that we will be delivering one of the most innovative and efficient pathology services in Britain."

The service will continue to be lead by consultant pathologists, while the new hub laboratory will be completed by autumn 2015.

Three men charged over knife killing

DETECTIVES investigating the killing of Hassan Mohammed have charged three men with his murder.

Mr Mohammed, 24, of Camberwell, south east London, died in Southend Hospital on July 8 after he was stabbed in York Road, at 7pm the day before.

A post-mortem examination revealed his cause of death was a result of two stab wounds he had received.

Danzel Bhebbe, 21, of Inverness Avenue, Westcliff, and Simbarash Zemura, 18, of Kursaal Way, Southend, appeared before magistrates in Chelmsford, on Thursday, October 9, charged with murder.

Vasile Iftinca, 40, from Southend, is also facing one charge of murder.

He was also charged earlier this month with attempting to pervert the course of justice.

All three men have been remanded into custody.

Opinion and readers' letters

Parking precedence out of order

"QUIS custodiet ipsos custodies". If the cops are guilty of wrongdoing, who will run them?

The issue arises from arrangements made by the council to regulate parking in the hospital area. They have two different traffic regulation orders (TROs), and in doing so they must comply with a Department for Transport requirement to give fair treatment to those competing for kerb space.

Under pressure from petitions made by residents, the council gave precedence to parking by residents. Visitors to the hospital received short shrift. Such precedence was a breach of Section 87 of the Traffic Management Act.

The drafting of the TROs was a disgrace. If a resident no longer required a parking permit for which he had paid £15, he could seek a refund. The TRO very generously provided a refund of £21750.

The council became aware in July 2012 that the TROs had failed to include necessary legal authority, for the collection of parking charges. At this stage the council should have called a halt to the collection of parking charges and remedied the TRO defects. It did not do so and continued to collect parking charges without legal authority, so that by April 2014 the total sum collected unlawfully exceeded £204,000.

Section 2 of the Fraud Act applies to someone who has dishonestly made a gain by misrepresentation. The police have a duty to investigate such matters and take whatever action may be necessary.

Faced with a misbegotten sum of £204,000, they should have leapt at the chance. At first they were quite enthusiastic at holding the council to account, but following the receipt of misleading information from the council, they decided not to pursue the question of fraud because of the difficulty of identifying individual parking payments.

Such reason does not appear to be a mitigating factor in the fraud act. So what should be done now. It is not open to the council to continue with a TRO that results in breach of section 87 of the Traffic Management act. There is also a problem with double yellow lines which do not conform to statutory requirements. Back to the drawing board.

In keeping with DFT requirements, a fresh start is needed for those taking children to local schools.

NHS in a deep crisis

THE news that Southend Hospital is facing a £20m black hole in its budget is shocking but hardly surprising.

Over the last few years, the National Health Service has been put under tremendous pressure. The challenge of dealing with increasing demand at a time when its resources are being squeezed.

It is, then, worth remembering that David Cameron promised back in 2010 that the NHS budget would be ring-fenced and guaranteed, a promise which has proved worthless as the health service has seen a real-terms fall in its funding.

The NHS is in crisis, and Tories have ably demonstrated that they cannot be trusted with it. Meanwhile, Labour, which created the NHS, have pledged to boost funding, including £2.5bn to recruit and train 8,000 new GPs and 20,000 new nurses.

Matt Dent
Southend-on-Sea

Funding according to faith

REGARDING fairness in funding faith schools, if Southend Council were – hypothetically – to offer children the opportunity to have free music lessons and perhaps provide an instrument, I would not object.

Inevitably, there would be a limit on the number of places. If the council stipulated that children from a Sikh, Hindu, or Buddhist background were offered places as a priority with the remaining places offered to children from a Christian background, eyebrows would be raised.

Budding young Mozarts from non-religious backgrounds would stand little chance. It is reasonable if religion X wished to finance music lesson for children whose parents are X.

When deciding about children's future, remembering their much-improved life expectancy, it is worth considering that the Census Organisation predicts that this country will be a secular society by 2041.

Flooding caused by rain shock

SO the powers that be have found that the flooding on Canvey Island in July was caused by the deluge of rain.

In truth this was caused by the council/country council over-building on the island without updating the infrastructure. The whole of the Island as we know can come to a standstill if there is any accident on the roads, and now the amount of rainfall that we had shown that the drainage system cannot cope.

Forget the amount of rain that fell, yes it certainly did rain, but with the large amount of houses built within the last five to 10 years and with the building work still going on it can only get worse.

Let's stop all new builds until we have another road and the drainage system is updated.

British arms policy driven by profit

THE British government's own rules state that it should not allow weapons to be sold where there is significant risk that they might be used for internal repression or in violation of international humanitarian law.

Yet we have witnessed the deplorable scenes of protesting Hong Kong students being attacked with tear gas made and sold in the UK.

Foreign secretary Philip Hammond contemptuously commented that it was 'immaterial' that the tear gas originated here and he refused to rule out further exports.

This week the Campaign Against the Arms Trade has instructed its lawyers to begin legal action against the government over its failure to stop arming Israel. It is my belief that the standards British arms controls claim to set are hampered by the drive for profit and can, therefore, only fail.

The UK has sold arms to Bahrain, Libya, Saudi Arabia and many other repressive regimes around the world.

This country has sold weapons with total disregard to the human rights record of the buyers and only revoked licences at times of crisis, often when it is already too late.

In July, the Parliamentary Committee on arms export controls reported that: "the Government's arms export policy is essentially one of reacting to events and not taking sufficient account of the nature of the regime concerned at the point when the decision is made to approve the licence or not."

Tchaikovsky's The Nutcracker at Basildon's Towngate Theatre is on October 25

by LIZ WADE

ONE of the most popular ballets in the world, The Nutcracker, will be at Basildon's Towngate Theatre later this month.

The ballet, which is one of Tchaikovsky's most famous compositions, tells the story of Marie, a sad little girl whose godfather, Drosselmeyer, gives her a nutcracker doll as a present on Christmas Eve.

The doll magically comes to life and turns into a prince in this ultimate festive fantasy which will be at the Towngate Theatre on Saturday, October 25.

Be captivated by the Winter Wonderland, the Land of Snow and the scrumptious Land of Sweets where the Sugar Plum Fairy entertains like royalty with festive dances in recognition of the prince's heroic defeat of the Mouse King.

The Russian State Ballet and Opera House have ensured this classical ballet remains just as spell-binding today as it was when it was first performed 120 years ago, and you will be surprised by how much of the music you will already be familiar with, such as The Spanish Dance, The Arabian Dance, The Russian Dance, The Chinese Dance, The Waltz of the Flowers and the Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy.

If you miss this production of The Nutcracker then there will be another chance when The Russian State Ballet and Orchestra of Siberia visit Southend on two dates early next year as part of a tour of four classic ballets.

Russia's acclaimed ballet company will return to the UK from January to March with four of the world's most beautiful and popular ballets with exquisite traditional productions – Swan Lake, The Nutcracker, La Fille Mal Gardée and Coppélia at selected theatres.

Formed in 1981, The Russian State Ballet of Siberia has become established as one of Russia's leading ballet companies. Based in the city of Krasnoyarsk, in central Siberia, the company is proud of its dancers who are highly acclaimed worldwide for their unique interpretation of both dramatic and comic roles, delivering performances of sincere emotional and dramatic integrity.

Since 2002, under the artistic directorship of Sergei Bobrov, leading dancers from across Russia have forged their skills and artistry performing an expanding repertoire of new works and productions of timeless classics.

TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES 3D (12A, 101 mins)

The adventures of turtle brothers Donatello, Leonardo, Michelangelo and Raphael began life in the mid-1980s as an irreverent comic book and rapidly spawned an animated TV series, a trilogy of films and a dizzying array of merchandise.

Turtle power has endured to the present day, including a computer-animated series on Nickelodeon.

It's no surprise then that Jonathan Liebesman, director of Wrath Of The Titans, has resurrected the heroes in a half-shell for the big screen.

Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles is an outlandish, action-heavy romp that remains faithful to earlier incarnations, condensing the characters' back-story into a snazzy comic book-style opening sequence.

Die-hard fans will enjoy the heavy whiff of nostalgia, but if Liebesman was hoping to indoctrinate a new generation, he has cowabungled it.

His film is incredibly violent, albeit bloodless, reducing two very young boys in my screening to distressed screams.

The lack of spilt blood is preposterous, especially when the turtles face chief villain Shredder, who sports armour festooned with blades.

Razor sharp projectiles scythe through the air but miraculously don't nick flesh.

Shredder by name but not by nefarious nature.

Leonardo (Pete Ploszek, voiced by Johnny Knoxville), Raphael (Alan Ritchson), Michelangelo (Noel Fisher) and Donatello (Jeremy Howard) grow up in the sewers of New York City.

They flourish under rat mentor Splinter (Danny Woodburn, voiced by Tony Shalhoub), who teaches Ninjutsu to his surrogate sons.

During one of the turtles' sorties above ground, Channel 6 news reporter April O'Neil (Megan Fox) glimpses the crime-fighters, who are preparing for war with hulking terrorist Shredder (Tohoru Masamune) and his army, the Foot Clan.

Leonardo, Raphael, Michelangelo and Donatello fear exposure so they track down April and spirit her to their subterranean lair.

"It's our Fortress Of Solitude, our Hogwarts, our Xavier's Academy," whispers Donatello, piling on the pop culture references.

Once April learns of the turtles' noble quest to destroy Shredder, she pledges her allegiance and ropes in wisecracking cameraman, Vern (Will Arnett), and prominent businessman Eric Sacks (William Fichtner), who has publicly declared war on the Foot Clan in a televised speech.

Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles updates the characters for the modern era.

Thus Mikey has a penchant for cat videos on the internet and the three scriptwriters shoe-horn verbal references to films and TV shows with abandon: "Maybe she's a Jedi," whispers Mikey after April reveals she knows Splinter's name without an introduction.

The turtles are rendered through motion-capture performances and look rather creepy, but they somersault to perfection in action set pieces including a tumble down a snow-laden mountainside.

Alas, the hefty budget hasn't stretched to remedying basic continuity errors like when Fox's plastic heroine emerges from a downpour with dry, flowing hair.

Believe that and you'll lap up this bland turtle soup.

Tchaikovsky ballets come to town

The soloists and corps de ballet are superb, delighting audiences with their breathtaking physical ability and dazzling costumes as each storyline unfolds to the live accompaniment of the Russian State Ballet Orchestra of Siberia.

The company comprises more than 40 dancers and 30 musicians and the 2015 tour will be their 13th visit to the UK.

As well as performing The Nutcracker at the Cliffs Pavilion on January 18, they will also be performing Swan Lake on March 1.

Swan Lake, the greatest romantic ballet of all time, is brought to life by Tchaikovsky's haunting and unforgettable score. From the impressive splendour of the palace ballroom to the moon-lit lake where swans glide in perfect formation, this compelling tale of tragic romance has it all, from Odile, the temptress in black tulle who seduces the prince by spinning with captivating precision, to the spell-bound purity of the swan queen, Odette, as she flutters with emotional intensity, the dual role of Odette/Odile is one of ballet's most unmissable technical challenges.

Audley End gardens ablaze with colour

THE recent unseasonably warm weather has stirred up something magical in the gardens at Audley End House as autumnal bursts of reds, browns, oranges and yellows have already set the grounds ablaze with colour.

With the full tinting on trees predicted to appear by October 30, and the house still open to visitors until Sunday, November 2, now is a fantastic time to visit the stately home in Saffron Walden, Essex.

Situated on a medieval Benedictine monastery site, the house and gardens at Audley End were among the largest and most opulent in Jacobean England, and a visit is like stepping back in history and retracing the footsteps of the Braybrooke family in the two in the world.

Also waiting to be discovered is the organic walled kitchen garden where major harvesting takes place in the autumn, and the vineyard where the first bunches of grapes are ready to be picked from the Black Hamburg vines.

While the house closes to visitors at the end of the season after its last open day on November 2, don't forget you can still take an autumnal or winter walk in Audley End's tranquil gardens every weekend until March, with their 'gardens only' tickets, and enjoy some special events.

Future events include Gothic

Falconry on Saturday and Sunday, October 25 and 26, from 11am to 5pm, when you can see graceful hawks, elegant owls and fearsome falcons in flight and hear revealing tales of gothic tragedy and superstition; a frightening fairytale and spooky stories for kids event from 11am to 4pm from Monday to Friday, October 27 to 31, when fearless souls are required for a thrilling family adventure; and a Victorian Séance Tricks of the Trade event from 6-10pm on Friday, October 31, and Saturday, November 1, for over-16s only, when you can immerse yourself in the Victorian fascination for the supernatural.

There will also be a number of festive events later this year including A Victorian Christmas, from 10am to 4pm, on Saturday and Sunday, November 29 and 30, when you can step back in time to the 1800s and experience the spirit and magic of a traditional yuletide celebration, traditional stalls and you can enter Father Christmas's workshop in the stable yard; wreath-making workshops from 10am to 2pm, on Tuesday and Wednesday, December 2 and 3; and a carol concert from 7.30pm to 9pm on Thursday, December 4.

While some events are included in normal admission prices some have an additional cost and some must be pre-booked.

As well as the sight of the estate's strikingly beautiful trees, many from the late 18th Century, displaying their autumnal hues, there are a number of trees not to be missed including the cedar of Lebanon as you approach the house, the avenue of lime trees and the Howard oak, one of only

One of the UK's top ten

OPULENT beauty, dedicated service and exotic royal cuisine can be found at the award-winning Maharaja.

The restaurant, in London Road, Benfleet, has twice been nominated as one of the top 10 Indian restaurants in the UK, during the British Curry Awards.

More than 1,500 restaurateurs witnessed its second triumph last year, during a ceremony at London's Battersea Evolution.

A record 40,000 public nominations were received for the awards, covering more than 2,700 restaurants.

The Maharaja was voted best in the South East and became one of the top 10 restaurants in the UK, in the final heats of the 'Oscars' of the UK curry restaurant industry.

Siraj Ali, owner of The Maharaja, said: "To be nominated again, as one of the top 10 best Indian restaurants in the country is certainly a dream come true."

"We are always here to ensure that our customers are given the best of everything, and their loyalty and enjoyment has seen the Maharaja rewarded for its pursuit of excellence in Indian cuisine and dining."

"We would like to say a huge thanks to our customers who have helped us reach the pinnacle of success in the industry."

The Maharaja is an Indian restaurant full of heritage, which offers unique and exotic Royal Indian cuisine in a traditional setting fit for a Maharaja.

The Ali family prides itself on providing excellence in cuisine, service and ambience for each and every diner, with authenticity and customer service at the very core.

Specialties include lobster, king prawn, salmon, trout and exotic freshwater fish from the Indian Ocean, including tilapia, while exciting new dishes include ostrich, venison, duck, whole leg of lamb and whole chicken.

The Maharaja has a wealth of offers including 'eat as much as you like' buffet nights starting from just £9.95 per person and a la carte options, as well as early bird deals.

Current deals include a 'four for three' drinks offer where you can buy four drinks at the bar and only pay for three, and a 'two for one' offer on its a la carte menu for restaurant diners from Sunday to Thursday – buy one starter and main course, or main course and dessert, and receive another absolutely free.

There are also large party discounts and a resident DJ from Thursday through to Saturday, so you can start the weekend early. The Maharaja is also the perfect setting for Christmas celebrations and is already taking bookings for December, so anyone interested is urged to call for further information and book early to avoid disappointment.

With a free three-course meal for the host for Christmas bookings of a minimum of six people, the Maharaja offers outstanding value-for-money this festive season.

Its takeaway service allows you dine like a king in your own home and boasts free home delivery as well as a further discount.

Choose the Maharaja for its opulent beauty, dedication to service and exotic royal cuisine... it's easy to forget that you are not royal there.

The restaurant is open from noon to 2.30pm, and from 5.30pm 11.30pm, Monday to Wednesday from noon to 2.30pm, and from 5.30pm to midnight, from Thursday to Saturday; and from noon 11pm on Sundays and bank holidays.

For further information, or book a table, call the restaurant 01268 794541/01268 792141 or visit www.maharajagroup.co.uk

Award-winning chef leads the way

FINE traditional Indian cuisine is on offer at Blue Chutney this Christmas.

The popular restaurant, at 31 The Broadway, Wickford, serves an extensive selection of fine traditional Indian cuisine, thanks to its award-winning chef, Kamrul Islam, who won the UK Curry Life magazine and the Bangladesh Caterers Association (BCA) awards in London last year.

As well as freshly preparing an extensive range of traditional Indian cuisines, Kamrul also serves a variety of specialities and recommended dishes that will suit a range of tastes and mouth-watering cuisine that includes Bombay sizzling tava, zinga delight and shashlik chicken masala.

Blue Chutney is not only the place to be to enjoy delicious food but it also the venue to enjoy a variety of entertainment including tribute nights. There will be nine fantastic evenings during the Christmas period including vocalist Kerry Smith on Saturday, November 1, for £22.95; Scott Elvis as Elvis on Friday, November 29, for £23.95; vocalist Toni Lee on Friday, December 5, for £22.95; solo singer Loran on Saturday, December 6, for £22.95; Ciaran James as Michael Bublé on Friday, December 12, for £24.95; vocalist Saska on Saturday, December 13, for £22.95; solo singer Elicia on Friday, December 19, for £22.95; vocalist Miss Morgan on Saturday, December 20, for £22.95; and

A four-course vegetarian option and English dishes are also available, while the restaurant will also be open on New Year's Day as usual.

Throughout the year diners are invited to party at Blue Chutney thanks to its Drinks Promotion every Wednesday and Friday evening. Enjoy a starter, main course, side dish, rice or naan bread from the menu (king prawn £3.30 extra) as well as drink as you want for one hour and 45 minutes. You must book your table in advance to enjoy this offer, which costs £20.95 per person on Wednesday and £24.95 on Fridays.

Drinks include Cobra and Carling draught beer, wine by the glass, spirits – vodka, gin, brandy, and whisky – as well as Malibu, Baileys, Archers and soft drinks (excludes wines by the bottle and champagne, terms and conditions apply).

Beautiful country pub fayre

SET just a few hundred yards away from the River Roach is a beautiful country pub that is renowned for its quality food, warm welcome and great ales and beers.

The Plough and Sail, owned by the Oliver family, is a traditional pub that has a history dating back more than 300 years.

It has transformed itself over the years from a meeting place for the hard working crews of more than 30 oyster smacks that were based in Paglesham – a place that was known as the smuggling capital of the district – to somewhere for locals and visitors to gather and enjoy delicious food and outstanding service.

The pub, which has real log fires, has a variety of menus including a main that includes a range of starters such as Cornish crab cocktail, breaded squid rings, Scottish smoked salmon and sliced smoked duck breast with raspberry dressing, followed by a wide variety of main courses including double lamb chop, homemade lasagne and steak and kidney pie, and tiger prawns cooked in chilli and garlic butter.

A children's menu is available and those looking for something lighter will also find a range of omelettes and salads to choose from, as well as ploughman's lunches and sandwiches.

This is all on top of a selection of homemade sweets and a specials menu that is updated regularly and includes delicious dishes such field mushrooms topped with caramelised onion and brie, and Moroccan-style lamb kebab.

The Plough and Sail, set in beautiful Essex countryside, can also cater for a variety of functions including weddings, birthdays, anniversaries and funeral wakes.

The beautiful beamed pub and pretty gardens provide a great backdrop to any event, for which staff can cater for up to 100 guests.

Christmas menus are now available for bookings from December 3 and anyone interested is urged to call for further information and to book early to avoid disappointment.

For further information about The Plough and Sail, in East End, Paglesham, near Rochford, or to make a reservation call 01702 258242 or visit www.theploughandsail.co.uk

ASK THE AGENT ALAN KIRKMAN

Alan Kirkman is a Director of both Tudor Estates in Southend and Essex TEAM part of a network of independently owned estate agents who share their instructions for the benefit of giving their client properties maximum market exposure. Alan has been an estate agent for over 32 years.

Q. The Autumn's a good time to move, right?

A. Probably one of the commonest questions estate agents get asked is "Is this a good time to put our home on the market?" It tends to crop up just around now, shortly after Christmas, and in the run-up to Easter.. And, not surprisingly, it is generally followed a few weeks later by a closely-related question: "Is it worth putting our home on the market now, or should we wait until next (September/New Year/Easter)?"

Why is this? Well, these are the three times of year when the property market is traditionally said to be at its most active, and not surprisingly, people want to surf that expected wave of buyer interest.

But does this really stand up to scrutiny?

Well, let's take the autumn. September and early October do indeed normally enjoy quite an increase in property market activity. For many of us, this is a time of new beginnings, with people moving to new jobs, etc, while for those who are planning to move, it's natural to want to have it all done and dusted in time for Christmas, and before the worst of the winter weather makes the thought of moving house thoroughly daunting.

Similar, though different, cases can equally well be made for the post-Christmas and Easter periods. As with autumn, there is some logic to both of them. But, does this necessarily make any of them a particularly "good" time to put your home on the market?

Actually, timing is generally less important than you might think. For one thing, if it were that simple, we'd all be property millionaires! But in any case, you need to remember that the balance between supply and demand in the property market is largely self-adjusting - by which I simply mean that other things being equal, large numbers of hopeful buyers will automatically tend to attract large numbers of equally hopeful sellers.

The simple fact is that if your property is well-presented and well-priced, it stands just as much chance of selling during the summer holidays as it does in Autumn - or the New Year, or at Easter. So, my advice is always the same: forget about trying to read the runes, and just move when it suits you.

Or, to put it another way, there's no time like the present...!

Landlord Question

When I take a deposit and a tenant moves out what will be allowed to be fair wear and tear and not deducted from the deposit?

Think Property Answer

Fair wear and tear means making an allowance for:-

1. the original age, quality and condition of any item at commencement of the tenancy
2. the average useful lifespan to value ratio (depreciation) of the item
3. the reasonable expected usage of such an item
4. the number and type of occupants in the property
5. the length of the tenant's occupancy

We'd say that there are several points to make in addition to this very helpful guidance. Generally, you're not going to be able to claim for the full cost of replacing an item but merely a contribution towards its repair or replacement. Secondly, the type of tenant you have taken on makes a difference. So, if you've let the property to parents with kids or students, people with pets or smokers and that was recognized in the agreement, then you can't penalize tenants for behaving as anyone would reasonably expect them to.

Dealing with delicate edge-cases is a skilful balancing act. But try and be fair. Don't be a quibbler. Don't forget, your time is valuable too. If you spend several weeks, numerous phone calls and not a little stress quibbling over £50, then you're onto a loser.

Volvo's new vision for driving safety

By Mike Torpey

VOLVO has taken one of the final steps towards realising its vision that by 2020, no one should be killed or seriously injured in a new Volvo car.

It comes via the development of a new safety feature that locates collision-free escape routes.

In December, the four-year Non-Hit Car and Truck project will draw to a close, leaving as its principal achievement the development of new sensor fusion technologies that provide a 360-degree view around a car.

A Swedish collaboration between academia, various institutions and industry, the Non-Hit Car and Truck project has focused on reducing accident risks for both passenger cars and commercial vehicles.

And one of its challenges was to build a detection system out of a number of discreet sensors installed around the car – something that's never before been accomplished.

It meant developing a sensor framework to enable technologies like cameras, radar and GPS to share information efficiently.

The 360-degree view is enhanced by something called a manoeuvre generator, a new safety feature that uses software to identify collision-free escape routes in traffic.

The system, which works by constantly analysing threats around the car, can even assist drivers with auto-braking and steering.

Project manager Anders Almevad said: "Volvo Cars is definitely on the front line when it comes to innovative active safety research and development.

"And with the Non-Hit Car and Truck project, we've taken a significant step towards realising the vision that by 2020 no one should be killed or seriously injured in a new Volvo car.

"The technology is also imperative for the development of self-driving cars, which will be able to automatically steer and brake to avoid collision with any object in any situation.

"Our primary objective is to focus on preventing different types of accident scenarios, but going forward we will also continue to work on developing cars that adapt to each individual driver's unique behaviour."

Scrap Cars

End of the road
for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

BAD DAY AT THE OFFICE FOR UTD

Southend United

Luton Town 2 Southend United 0 By Rowland Lyons at Kenilworth Road

THE 'curse' of the Manager of the Month Award struck as Phil Brown's Shrimpers suffered defeat at the newly-promoted Hatters on Saturday.

Having lost to Morecambe the previous weekend, and with Brown having collected his award, he was let down by sloppiness at the back, as the Hatters bagged maximum points, from Alex Lawless and Mark Cullen first-half strikes.

Despite a bright start with Shaquile Coulthirst and Kevan Hurst causing the improving Luton problems down the flanks, it was poor defending that allowed Scott Griffiths a clear path to find the unmarked Lawless, who netted with a fine chip on 17 minutes.

Southend went totally 'flat' thereafter, but it took a misplaced Cian Bolger pass after 33 minutes to Andy Drury, who played in Cullen, to make no mistake from the edge of the box.

In what had been an instantly forgettable opening half, only Hurst forced Town's Mark Tyler into fumbling a wayward cross over his own bar to safety.

Later, admitting he had made mistake by omitting the livewire, Jack Payne from the starting line-up, Brown withdrew the ineffective Coulthirst.

Payne revelling in a seemingly 'free' role, almost – instantly – reduced the arrears, but the under-worked Tyler was quick to react and bravely saved at the schemer's feet.

Southend at least enjoyed a good 15-minute spell, but with the cushion of a two-goal lead, Luton packed their defence and the Shrimpers were restricted to long-range efforts.

An always competitive game reached boiling point when skipper John White appeared to be impeded taking a routine 70th minute throw-in. Assistant boss Dave Penney was then sent to the stands in what Brown claimed was for 'throwing an elbow' at a Luton player.

Brown admitted: "It was a bad day at the office but, no excuses, the mentality of the team wasn't right today. I'm not sure what that was down to.

"But, it was the manner in which we played in the first-half – full stop. We needed nous and experience out there today in front of nine thousand people.

"I think I made a mistake in leaving out Jack Payne and, yes, he was a dangerman and, yes, he did look like getting us a goal in the opening fifteen minutes of the second-half, but the damage was done.

"We must give great credit to Luton

Town. They're up there on merit – that's four on the bounce they've won.

"We've now lost back-to-back games and we don't deserve anything today."

Payne added: "The two early goals 'killed' us – and they did a good 'job' on us. We didn't really turn up, to be honest."

Luton boss John Still said: "We scored a fantastic goal and got a bit of help with the other. I don't think anyone could say we didn't deserve to win against a very good side. I'm very pleased with the result."

Luton Town: Mark Tyler, Michael Harriman (Alex Lacey 90), Steve McNulty (captain), Luke Wilkinson, Alex Lawless, Scott Griffiths, Andy Drury, Jonathan Smith, Nathan Doyle, Pelly Ruddock Mpanzu, Mark Cullen.

Non-league round-up

Cup magic for Canvey

by Brian Jeeves

THE Canvey FA Cup dream is still very much alive as both Canvey Island and Concord Rangers won their third qualifying round ties.

John Sands 10th goal of the campaign earned the Gulls a narrow 1-0 victory at Barton Rovers, while the Beach Boys had Steve Cawley (2) and Matt Fry to thank for securing a win over Winchester City at the Aspect Arena by the odd goal in five.

East Thurrock United are also in the hat after a 2-1 win over Tooting and Mitcham United, they are joined by Witham Town who won by the same score at Needham Market.

And there were goals galore in Chelmsford City's tie at Whitehawk. Michael Cheek and Joe Ward both grabbed a brace for the Clarets but they'll have to do it all again after the teams played out an incredible 4-4 draw.

However, the Wembley dream is over for Billericay Town. The Blues went down 1-0 to Weymouth at New Lodge in front of a good crowd of more than 400.

In the Conference Premier Division there was disappointment for Braintree Town as strikes from George and Bakayoko saw visitors Southport pick up a 2-0 win at Cressing Road.

In the Ryman Premier Division AFC Hornchurch picked up a useful point with a 1-1 draw with Bury Town at Bridge Avenue, Reece Beckles-Richard on target for the Urchins.

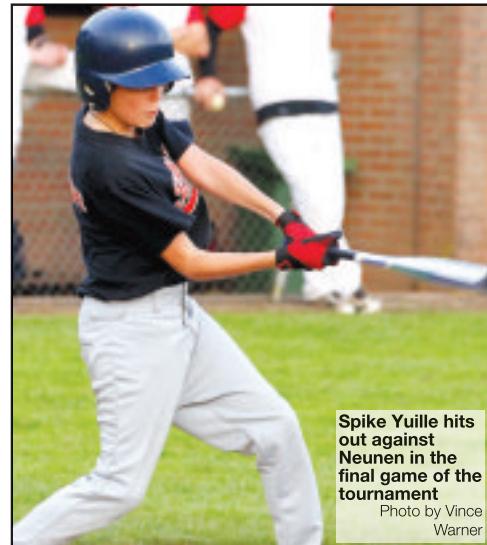

Meanwhile, there was plenty of action in the Ryman North Division. Great Wakering Rovers picked up their first home win of the season. Tom Ranger's second-half goal was enough to see off Heybridge Swifts at Burroughs Park, while goals from Courtney White and Daryl Robson clinched Brentwood Town a 2-1 win over Brightlingsea Regent.

Thurrock thrashed Burnham Ramblers 5-1, but it was disappointment for Barking & Dagenham who went down 2-1 at home to Harlow Town. Steven Carvell the man on target for 'Side. But it was an afternoon to forget for Tilbury, who crashed 4-0 at AFC Sudbury, and poor old Romford who crumbled 8-0 at Wroxham.

In the Essex Senior League FC Romania hammered Basildon United 6-1, and 2-1 wins for Harlow Borough, at Hullbridge Sports, Barking, at Greenhouse London and Tower Hamlets, at Sporting Bengal United.

Ilford picked up a notable 3-0 win at Stansted, and Bowers & Pitsea took the points with a 2-0 win at Eton Manor. Waltham Abbey won a thrilling encounter with London Bari by three goals to two, while Enfield 1893 and Clapton played out an entertaining 2-2 draw.

Redbacks do well at international tournament

Baseball

ESSEX Redbacks concluded their competitive summer at the annual MEET Tournament, hosted by HSCN Neunen, in Eindhoven, the Netherlands.

And they got off to their best ever start at their fifth appearance at the tournament.

Trailing 6-5 heading into the final innings against the Old Rags, a travel team from Italy, second baseman Stuart Harpner-Horn launched a two-run home run to give them the win in front of a big crowd under the floodlights on the main diamond.

Saturday was more of a struggle, coming up against some very strong teams from the Netherlands and Belgium, including one of the top teams in the professional Dutch league.

despairing defence at will.

When Southend did manage some possession they lost the ball in contact or knocked on.

A half-time score of 30-7 to Chinnor had the game won, leaving Saxons with the only realistic hope of a four-try bonus point.

With players still missing it was always going to be long shot but they tried, oh how they tried.

Two tries and conversions in the first 10 minutes of the second-half got them to 30-21, but then Chinnor stole the ball deep in their own half. With most of the Saxons up-field it was an easy stroll and touchdown. The conversion made it 37-21.

Despite gallant efforts from the Saxons they just could not make any headway. On one occasion they started an attack well inside the Chinnor half but within three minutes, without losing the ball and going through eight or nine phases, they found themselves back in their own 20m line and running sideways. Driven there by continuous and aggressive tackling and cover from Chinnor who eventually turned the ball over.

Another try took Chinnor to a convincing win.

The Saxons are at home over the next two weekends with games against mid-table Worthing Raiders and Lydney.

Saxons sink to heavy defeat as season gets harder

Rugby

Chinnor 42 Southend Saxons 21

SOUTHEND Saxons' poor start to the season continued at Chinnor where they were put to the sword by their Oxfordshire opponents.

The first-half was all Chinnor apart from a solitary penalty try from Southend. With a stiff breeze behind Chinnor they stormed relentlessly forward seeming to burst through the
